

Hans-Heinrich Reckeweg Clinical Case Award 2019

Be rewarded for sharing clinical knowledge

AWARD FOR CLINICAL CASES

With the Hans-Heinrich Reckeweg Clinical Case Award, we would like to encourage healthcare practitioners to share their clinical experience.

This annual award acknowledges the publication of outstanding clinical information in the form of case report summaries. It recognizes the importance of collecting real-world data and promotes the open-access publication of health information.

The award consists of a main (€10,000) and a runner-up (€5,000) prize. The prizes are awarded once a year in Germany.

The award was established by Heel. It is a tribute to the founder of the company, Dr. Hans-Heinrich Reckeweg.

WHAT IS A CLINICAL CASE REPORT SUMMARY?

A clinical case report summary is a short version of a case report. It typically includes all the necessary information in the form of keywords or short sentences. Case summaries may be considered an intermediate step in writing and publishing case reports. They can be quickly disseminated by posting on preprint servers, a resource often used by clinicians to discuss complicated cases and seek advice for patient care.

WHY DO CLINICAL CASE REPORTS MATTER?

Case reports not only convey new information. They may also generate hypotheses for future clinical studies and are an indispensable teaching tool. As a case report author, you add new knowledge to current medical evidence. Your findings and hypotheses may be examined by other clinicians, resulting in the discovery of novel treatments. In addition, sharing medical knowledge can be a great learning experience and introduce you to academic writing.

HOW TO PARTICIPATE

To participate in the Award, you must complete a 5-step process:

1. Obtain written patient informed consent.
2. Create a case report summary using the CARE-writer™ tool and make sure all patient data is anonymized.
3. Download and complete the CARE checklist.
4. Download and sign the authorship and copyright consent form.
5. Upload and submit the created case report summary, the annotated CARE checklist and the signed authorship and copyright consent form

The clinical case summary should be in the fields of human or veterinary medicine. It should present an interesting case involving multicomponent, natural treatments.

The deadline for submission of the Hans-Heinrich Reckeweg Award 2019 is June 30, 2019.

You can find all information on case report summaries, submission and conditions of entry on the official award website.
